At Least 11 Dead, Thousands Homeless

Aid Rushed To Flood Scene In Appalachian Mountains

By The Associated Press
Emergency aid was rushed into the Appalachian Mountain coal mining region today where thousands of persons in four states are homeless and whole towns stricken from a devastating winter flood.

High waters that left at least 11 dead in two states and damages running into untold millions of dollars raced downstream today, threatening havoc on still more communities.

Region's Worst Flood

The flood that swept suddenly out of the mountains into southeastern Kentucky, West Virginia, southern Virginia and east Tennessee already was recorded as the region's worst in this century if not in history.

Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia Wednesday night joined Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler in petitioning President Eisenhower for immediate help. Eight of the dead were counted in Kentucky and three in West Virginia.

In Kentucky, Prestonsburg, Paintsville and Beattyville shored up barriers against the onrushing Kentucky River even as mud-covered cities in the flood's wake called for portable generators, water purifiers and typhoid vaccine.

Thousand Flee Homes

At least a thousand persons fled their homes at Prestonsburg where Wednesday night a fire broke out, destroying three buildings. All firemen could do was let it burn itself out and prevent it from spreading.

The Army at Ft. Knox sent soldiers, medical corps men and supplies to stricken areas with the help of the National Guard, Red Cross and Civil Defense.

Army helicopters dropped through overcast skies to take typhoid serum, medicine, blankets and foods to isolated communities.

Children Cry For Milk

S. C. Van Curon, managing editor of the Harlan, Ky., Daily Enterprise, one of the first newsmen to reach Hazard, told of small children crying for milk and drinking water.

He described the Kentucky River city, a coal center of about

King Saud Confers With U. S. Officials

Middle Eastern Problems, Ike's Plan Are Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials were reported hopeful today that King Saud would use his influence as a leader of the Arab world to promote permanent settlements of urgent Middle Eastern questions.

At the top of the list is the need for early agreement between Egypt and the nations which use the Suez Canal on the operation of the waterway when it is reopened to shipping in March.

To Meet With Dulles

Saud, who began his conference with a private talk with President Eisenhower Wednesday, was to meet today with Secretary of State Dulles. His schedule also called for a luncheon given by Vice President Nixon.

A diplomatic reception in late afternoon and a dinner given by Dulles tonight were to round out the Saudi Arabian monarch's day.

Wednesday night Eisenhower gave a formal dinner in his honor at the White House. The guest list of 58 men included 12 banking and oil company executives. Also present were congressional leaders, ambassadors of the Arab countries and 16 members of the party which accompanied Saud to America.

Eisenhower received Saud in his office for a private 10-minute talk Wednesday afternoon. Then they joined a group of officials of both countries in the Cabinet room for 90 minutes of discussion. Afterward the President and the King returned to Eisenhower's office for a second private discussion with only an interpreter present.

General Review of Problems

There was no official disclosure of the ground covered in these conversations but officials said it was to be assumed they embraced a general review of all Middle Eastern problems, including application of Eisenhower's proposed program for stabilizing the area and protecting it against any threat of Communist aggression.

The House of Representatives passed 355-61 Wednesday a resolution authorizing Eisenhower to use armed forces, if necessary, to prevent the Communists from driving into the Middle East with

AFL-CIO Union Is Threatened

Building Trades Clique Stirs Up Fight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A building trades union clique apparently spearheaded by the embattled Teamsters Union threatened today to break up the AFL-CIO merger.

The building trades group, claiming about 3 million of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members, suddenly stirred up a long-quiet revolt into a red hot fight against former CIO unions for job rights.

The Teamsters Union — largest AFL-CIO affiliate currently in dutch with Congress for advising its officers they would lose nothing avoiding testimony in labor racket probes — seems to be stirring up the building trades into action.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, the union's midwest boss, has been a major figure in most building trades meetings planning the revolt.

The latest development came in a statement by the building trades group that it will seek to "regain work now being performed by other organizations." This spells "war" to most former CIO unions.

Unions of both the former AFL and former CIO have conflicting jurisdictional authority in their charters — power to assign members to work.

As Hoffa put it to reporters, "We are out to recapture members the CIO crowd got that we ought to have."

Hoffa went on to say the teamsters hope to reorganize the building trades along Teamsters Union lines where power is concentrated regionally and by areas rather than in locals.

There were some suggestions the teamsters' organization was stirring up the building trades fight as a diversionary tactic to the criticism attached to teamsters' officials refusing to testify before congressional labor racket investigators.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, acted in a peace-makers role in refusing to docket the jurisdictional squabble on the winter meeting schedule of the AFL-CIO executive council.

Mahoning Farm Agent Ends Active Career

Testimonial Program Honors J. C. Hedge

Over 250 Mahoning County residents who have been associated with county farm extension activities gathered last night in Canfield School to honor J. C. Hedge, who has retired, effective today, as Mahoning County agricultural extension agent after 33 years' service in the area.

Hedge, a veteran among the state agriculturists, has a total of 40 years to his credit as a farm extension advisor.

R. R. Hammett of Poland, associate county agent from 1946-1952, acted as master of ceremonies during the program which highlighted Hedge's accomplishments during his reign as agent.

Congratulatory letters were read from W. B. Wood, director of extension work at Ohio State University; and C. M. Ferguson of Washington, D. C., former state extension director.

Often-Wed Manicurist Faces Charge

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Cynthia Delores Corraditti, 23, returns to Richmond, Ind., scene of her seventh and most recent marriage, today to face a bigamy charge.

The attractive young manicurist told Dayton police her story of seven marriages, but only four divorces, Monday after Eugene Fultz and Raymond Morris, husbands 6 and 7, learned about each other.

At that time, Mrs. Corraditti—who apparently did not divorce Benni Corraditti after their marriage in 1953—indicates she is expecting a baby and said no one seemed to want her.

Wednesday, however, both Fultz and Morris said they want her back if she can straighten out her entanglement.

And a man and woman, claiming to be her father and mother, phoned from different parts of the country to ask about her.

The man, who identified himself as W. M. Viles of Oklahoma City said he was "out of funds" and unable to come to her.

The woman identified herself as Mrs. Evelyn Boyd of San Diego, Calif. She said she would leave San Diego today and travel east to see Mrs. Corraditti.

"I want to clear this up regardless of what price I have to pay," Mrs. Corraditti told newsmen from her cell.

Dayton police said Richmond authorities will take the young woman to Indiana where, they said, she was last married on Jan. 14. Detective Sgt. J. H. Pickard said she and Morris indicated it was the first marriage for each when they appeared before John Longstreet, a justice of the peace.

The father of the child Mrs. Corraditti says she is expecting has not been identified.

Besides facing one or more bigamy charges, she was charged here with defrauding the government. Police said she admitted receiving government allotment checks from a husband in the Air Force and another in the Navy.

Justice Reed Resigns Post

Served On Highest Tribunal 19 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, effective Feb. 25.

Reed, 72, is a Democrat. He has served on the highest judicial tribunal 19 years.

The naming of his successor will be Eisenhower's fourth appointee on the Supreme Court.

Eisenhower's other appointees are Chief Justice Warren and Justices Harlan and Brennan.

The White House said it had nothing to announce at this time regarding a successor.

Reed turned in a letter of resignation, dated today, saying he wished to retire from active service.

He is taking advantage of a provision of law which allows him to retire at full pay and subject to call for occasional service on the court if this is desired.

The White House indicated that Reed might have let the President know his intentions in advance of submission of the letter. That may have taken place at a White House reception honoring the Supreme Court on Tuesday night.

Eisenhower, in a letter to Reed, said he was taking the opportunity "to tender my congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service."

He also praised Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Reed, appointed by President Roosevelt, reached the age of 72 Dec. 31. Present law permits federal judges to retire at 70 after 10 years service on the bench.

Reed's retirement pay will be $35,000 a year, the same as his salary.

Reed's retirement is the second from the Supreme Court since its new term began last Oct. 1. Justice Sherman Minton retired Oct. 15, because of failing health.

Two other members of the high bench are eligible for retirement, but neither has given any indication that he plans to step down. Justice Black will be 71 on Feb. 27 and Justice Frankfurter was 74 Nov. 15.

Will Complete Plans For Bids On Fire Truck

The Perry Township trustees are expected to have final plans drawn up by their next meeting Feb. 11 on the advertising of bids for a new fire truck. Clerk Richard Hutcheson reports.

The vehicle will cost an estimated $16,000 and will have a 1,000 gallon tank to carry water to rural areas of the township where water is unavailable.

The trustees were authorized to advertise for bids for a new truck as the result of the passage of a 2.20 mill levy in the November elections.

Elmer Elliott Is Victim; Had Been On Trip

Wife Injured In Collision At Road Intersection

A southern business and pleasure trip ended in tragedy for a Sebring man Wednesday when he was killed just four miles from his home, after visiting in Florida and Alabama.

The victim, Elmer Elliott, 46, director of engineering for the Alliance Machine Co., was killed when his auto collided with another car driven by Ronald Burke, 19, of RD 4, Salem, at the intersection of Route 165 and the Snodes - Middletown Road Wednesday at 5:05 p.m.

Elliott was pronounced dead on arrival at Alliance City Hospital at 5:18 p.m. from a brain injury and skull fractures.

Son Escapes Injury

His wife, Jennie, 50, is in fair condition today in the Alliance hospital with a broken jaw and head injuries. Their 10 year old son, James, escaped uninjured in the mishap.

Mahoning county deputy sheriff Dale Beckett said the accident occurred when Elliott was traveling west on the Snodes-Middletown Road and Burke was enroute north on Route 165.

Elliott, apparently tired from many miles of traveling, lightly regarded the intersection either by not stopping long enough or going straight through and as a result his auto was struck by Burke's, the deputy said.

The impact of the crash threw Elliott from his auto and Burke's car in turn rolled on top of the Sebring man. Burke was not hurt in the crash. He declined treatment from a local physician but suffered from shock.

Elliott was director of engineering at the Alliance Machine Co. He had combined a business and pleasure trip to Alabama and Florida. On the way back home they had stopped in Washington, D.C. to visit a daughter Mary Jo. They had been gone two weeks.

Elliott's death was the third traffic fatality in Mahoning county this year.

Elliott was born in Sebring on Nov. 25, 1910 and had worked for the Alliance Machine Co. for over 25 years.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Lois Elliott in Florida, and three brothers, Ray of Sebring, Robert of Columbus and Donald in Michigan.

He was a member of the Methodist Church in Sebring and the Elks Lodge.

Funeral services are pending.

Filing of Candidates Reported Lagging

Three new candidates filed today with the Columbiana County Election Board for the May 7 primaries — an aspirant who promises to make a three-way race for the Republican nomination for second ward councilman in East Liverpool, a second GOP candidate for Salineville Mayor and a Wellsville councilman seeking a new term on the GOP slate.

The new East Liverpool candidate is Harry L. Simpson, an accounting clerk at the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, Pa. The incumbent is William Y. Orr who has not filed for any office. Harry Wilson, a former councilman, filed for the seat last week.

Kenneth Leishman, 46, filed for nomination as mayor of Salineville to oppose the incumbent, Karl Lindner who has filed for a fifth term. Leishman, a sawmill operator and former councilman, is married and has a son and daughter.

Councilman Ansel Moore of Wellsville filed for renomination to a third term as first ward representative. He is a retired millworker.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Election Board, said today only about half of the normal number of candidates for such an election has filed so far with the board, although the deadline falls next Wednesday. Approximately 75 are on the books, and the board generally lists about 150 for an election.

Patrolman Sues Woman As Result Of Mishap

Katherine Beeson of 275 N. Roosevelt Ave. was named defendant in the suit.

Wattlesworth claims he was attempting to pass the defendant in a patrol cruiser Feb. 11, 1956, on E. State St. when she made a left turn, causing their vehicles to collide.

The patrolman claims the patrol car's red warning light was in operation and that he used his siren when he saw Mrs. Beeson beginning to make the turn.

Refuses To Leave Home On Edge Of Army Firing Range

OROGRADE, N. M. (AP) — Ringed 82-year-old John Prather today shrugged off the news that he had been ordered to vacate his home on the edge of a vast military firing range.

"A man has got a right to die at the home he spent his life building, and that's what I'm going to do."

The military and the U. S. attorney have directed the land be vacated by March 1. The home buildings and heart of the ranch are 1 1/2 miles inside the east border of the huge new McGregor guided missile range in south-central New Mexico.

Ten other ranchers besides Prather have been ordered off the range, but only one has gone. Prather has eight sections of good grassland inside the range and many more outside. That inside is the lush section, fed by underground water.

Informed of the order, Prather asked:

"Did that feller say March the 1st of what year?"

Told it was this year, he grinned and said, "I don't believe I'm going to make it. I've decided to finish out my first 100 years and go ahead and live another hundred to beat these people."

He said in spite of years of drought around him, he has never had to feed a single head of stock "and I've never taken any of that government feed either."

"Why, you just don't put a man out of his home. I know we have to have an army, because I used to sell remounts to it."

"But this business of hollering about defense all the time just so the Army can show how much power it has got is not right."

Army authorities at Ft. Bliss, just south of the New Mexico line at El Paso, Tex., have big plans for McGregor range.

So does Prather. He has spent 50 years building his ranch.

Right now he has a tractor scraping a bare strip of soil along the edge of his property line to safeguard his sea of grass.

"First thing I want to do," the pioneer stockman said, "is finish that fire break between me and the Army."

DEFENSE DISCUSSION — British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys, right, confers with Charles E. Wilson, U. S. secretary of defense, at the Pentagon in Washington. Sandys and Wilson discussed problems confronting the Free World's defense system. On another front, Wilson got himself in hot water when he told the House Armed Services Committee that the National Guard was "a sort of scandal" during the Korean War. He said it was used as a "draft-dodging business" by young men to escape fighting in Korea.

351 At Knox School
Get Polio Vaccine

Three hundred and fifty-one Knox Township School children were given polio immunization shots Wednesday morning.

Originally scheduled for a two day clinic at Knox Schools, Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, and county health nurses, Mrs. Mary Alice Rumberger and Mrs. Violet Peterson, completed the clinic in one day.

They will go to Yellow Creek School district and give polio shots to those three schools on Monday, (Feb. 4) which was originally set up for the 5-8th grades at Knox.

Columbiaga Exempted village schools and Knox Township schools have requested polio clinics but Dr. Palmer said they would have to wait until a new shipment of Salk vaccine was received by his department.

Columbiana Council Approves Gas Supply Franchise

Higher One-Year Rates Also Passed by Council

COLUMBIANA — An ordinance granting the Ohio Fuel Co. of Columbus a new 15-year franchise to supply gas to the village, with an accompanying schedule of higher rates for one year was passed on first reading by Columbiana council at a special meeting Tuesday evening.

It will come up for second reading at the regular meeting next Tuesday evening and will be due for final passage Tuesday evening, Feb. 19.

The new ordinance repeals a franchise granted a predecessor in May, 1905, and revised in May, 1907.

As Solicitor Jack Kuhlman read the ordinance section by section, members of council addressed many inquiries to Bruce Cox, who was present as the representative of the company's district office in Salem.

The original rate proposal was for a three-year term, with provision for a further advance in rates the second year, but Cox obtained a concession from the Columbus headquarters, which will permit renegotiation at the end of the first year of the new rates.

Under the new schedule, the present minimum monthly charge of $1.25 is raised to $1.50, and at the end of the first year will go to $2. The present rate of $2.55 for the first 3,000 feet becomes $3.20 for the first year and will rise to $3.87 the second year. For 5,000 feet, the rate rises from the present $3.85 to $4.90 and $5.47; 10,000 feet from $6.85 to $8.40 and $9.22; 20,000 feet from $12.85 to $15.40 and $16.72; all over 200,000 feet 65 cents per 1,000.

COX SAID THE Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia's 34,000 accounts are now part of 600,000 accounts of its new parent company, Ohio Fuel. He said the company has gas stored under 10,000 acres in this vicinity, on which it pays personal tax.

J. W. Melville and Russell Calvin, of the north end of Court St., were present and complained of low pressure. Cox said he would send a representative of the company at once to determine the cause, which might be inadequate equipment.

He reiterated that the company plans to extend a new eight or 10-inch line from Middle St. to serve better the east side of town, which will involve a new regulator at the former site of Harrold Tool Co. for which a new lease will have to be negotiated.

John H. Heintzelman Sr., Rotary Club chairman of the drive, sponsored locally by the club says duplicate donations are not asked of those who have made their contributions in response to letters mailed. Those who have already paid may tell the canvassers.

Heintzelman says there have been only about 200 responses to 1,600 letters of solicitation, and only about $1,700 has been collected toward the $3,000 goal for Columbiana and vicinity.

An open grange meeting is scheduled for Midway Grange Hall southwest of town on Route 164 for 8 p.m. Saturday, when visiting Grange night will be observed.

Ricketts Sets New Foul Shooting Mark

PITTSBURGH — Dave Ricketts, star Duquesne basketball player, ran his streak of consecutive foul conversions to 40 Wednesday night.

Dave was flawless as he established the new collegiate foul shooting mark while scoring 28 points and leading Duquesne to a 71-67 victory over St. Francis of Brooklyn at Pitt Fieldhouse.

Dave said after the game he had been convinced he would eclipse the mark of 38 consecutive foul conversions set earlier this season by Chet Forte of Columbia. He got eight foul chances in the second half, winding up with a 10 for 10 night. Where he'll stop no one knows, including Dave.

Urges U. S., Canada Probe Newsprint Cost

WASHINGTON — Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) has said this country and Canada should join in an investigation of recent price boosts for newsprint.

Newsprint is paper on which newspapers are printed. Most of the U. S. supply comes from Canada.

Potter also suggested in a Senate speech Wednesday, that this country make "a crash research program to develop domestic sources of newsprint."

"Complete dependence on Canadian sources is unhealthy and should be eliminated," he said.

Potter is a member of the Senate Commerce Committee which is to begin an investigation Feb. 26 into price increases on newsprint.

He said six Canadian mills and one U. S. firm recently boosted newsprint 4 dollars a ton. Potter said Canadian mills supplied 7 million tons of newsprint last year compared with U. S. production of about 1½ million tons.

Will Open Hearings On Strike Violence

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt of the Ohio Supreme Court today assigned Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff of Circleville to start hearings Feb. 11 on possible violations of an injunction against violence in the Ohio Consolidated Telephone strike.

The chief justice said numerous cases of alleged violations of the injunction have resulted from cable cuttings that disrupted telephone service in the Portsmouth area.

The cable cuttings developed during the strike begun last July 15 by Communications Workers of America against the company in a dispute over renewal of a union shop clause and other contract disputes.

'Marmot' Has Distinctions, But Weather Predicting Is Not One

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Whither the weather the rest of the winter?

Find out on Saturday, when countless other human beings will wait upon the whim of the groundhog and his shadow, in stout testimony to the durability of pleasant nonsense.

For the innocent will not be corrupted by fact, and maybe it is better thus. Who cares that the groundhog is scarcely kin to the European hedgehog that started the whole business of weather forecasting by shadows on Candlemas day?

So the groundhog ain't really a hedgehog. So he ain't a groundhog, either, for that matter. He's listed as a marmot, which is kind of a sneaky way of saying he's a cellar-loving squirrel.

And even worse, from the practical point of view, is the fact that he's no more likely to come out on Saturday than he is on Friday or Sunday, and if he does — why, the only shadow he'll be interested in is that made by a lady groundhog.

As is so often the case, many of the groundhog's real distinctions have been obscured.

He is, for instance, a widely-distributed animal which flourishes as the year-around target for many hunters who are deeply grateful. He has been responsible for development and testing of a whole series of splendid small-calibre firearms. And at an average weight of 10 pounds or so, he's probably the smallest animal for which people are regularly mistaken and shot.

In addition, he digs holes with a conspicuous, mounded main entrance rarely used in times of stress, and a number of hidden entrances that horses and cows find unfailingly when they step into them and fracture their legs.

These holes have positive advantages, however. Without them, the cottontail rabbit might well disappear entirely from heavily hunted country. All these merits has this marmot plus one not mentioned, since his place in it is as phony as his status in weather forecasting. It's a riddle which beats the Sphinx, since it's still unanswered. You remember: how much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck would chuck wood?

The evening's program will include recreation 7 to 7:45 p.m.; group singing, 7:45 to 8; theme presentation, 8:15 - 8:45; "buzz" worship, 8:45-9:30; and 9:30-10, refreshments.

The Zoning Ordinance

A zoning ordinance for the city of Salem, an important phase of the comprehensive plan which was begun by municipal officials nearly 18 months ago, is about completed.

Prepared by the Michael Bakers Engineers, of Rochester, Pa., the ordinance is now in City Council's hands for perusal and minor changes. The Planning Commission, which, with Mayor Dean Cramer entered into a contract with the professional engineers for the survey, already has gone over the zoning law and given its stamp of approval.

Its adoption by Council, probably at an early date, will provide the city of Salem with an intelligent yardstick or pattern for future growth and expansion.

Once the ordinance is passed hodge-podge construction will be a thing of the past. The city will be classified by districts such as industrial, general business district, heavy commercial and residential. And with boundaries clearly defined, new construction will be plotted wisely; uncertainties will be removed, property values will increase or at least not be decreased.

The zoning plan is one of the progressive steps taken by the city in recent years. The mayor, Council and the Planning Commission have evinced genuine interest in their city by pushing the program to completion.

Spending Protest

Is it good politics to warn Americans they are public - spending themselves into disaster? Have taxes finally become so distasteful that most Americans are in favor of tightening the public belt?

Ohio's new governor, C. William O'Neill, says departmental budget requests in the state are "fantastic" and would bankrupt Ohio if granted.

The nation's newly-elected president, Dwight Eisenhower, backs up Treasury Secretary Humphrey with a statement that Congress has a duty to go over the federal budget with a fine-tooth comb to find places where money can be saved.

State legislators and national legislators would use a meat ax on spending proposals if they thought voters would back them up. But they doubt it would be good politics.

They have no reason to believe they would be rewarded with citizen support if they reversed the ever-upward trend of public spending; they fear they would be punished, instead.

Would you, personally, reward a legislator who opposed your favorite spending project?

It might be another multi-million extension of a state university, or it might be a drastic cutback in a foreign-aid proposal to help your favorite minority in some distant part of the world.

It might be curtailment of a subsidy you like. It might be an increase in postal rates to trim the postal deficit. It might even be a few less bombers, a slowdown in the guided-missile program, or some other indispensable detail of national security.

That is the rub.

All public spending is indispensable to someone. Every budget item is backed by a determined minority which can prove to its satisfaction that a cut would lead to disaster. Spenders are organized, savers are not organized.

Hence, the political practice of knuckling under to the organized groups. To make it even more discouraging, many would-be savers are determined spenders where their own special interests are concerned.

A spending protest among Americans is possible. It may even be imminent. But it will cut no ice with politicians until they can be shown there are more votes to be won by cutting budgets than by padding them.

Down To Terms

The state visit of King Ibn Saud is as clear a demonstration of cold-turkey diplomacy as anyone could ask for under the circumstances. The king wants to straighten out the entanglements that are curtailing oil production in Saudi Arabia worth upward of $300 million a year to him.

The United States wants a new lease for its strategic air base at Dhahran. The base is vital to the "Eisenhower doctrine."

To state the setup of the quid pro quo bluntly, King Ibn Saud has something the United States wants, and the United States wants something he has. Fortunately, the king also wants something the United States has — military aid. These will be the basic terms for a negotiation.

They are the basic terms for every successful diplomatic negotiation, a point overlooked by Americans who think of diplomacy as an exercise in moral judgment.

The hard facts of international relations are to the contrary, whether they concern a king of Araby, a dictator in the Balkans, a dictator in Spain, a republic in France, a limited monarchy in England, or an authoritarian state in China. Diplomats do what is necessary. Their critics say they should have done what the critics believe would have been desirable.

Debt To Dulles

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Secretary Saved England, France From Collapse

Some day they ought to erect a monument in London to John Foster Dulles, secretary of state — the man who in 1956 saved England from economic collapse.

In fact, he saved the economy of western Europe, too.

Just now the tide of opinion runs the other way — the British think Mr. Dulles has been unfriendly to them. For the last several weeks inspired news reports from Britain and France — which now have been taken up by irresponsible partisans here — call for the resignation of Mr. Dulles.

The facts of this period of undisclosed history, however, when put together tell a different story.

They probably will not come out in any "white paper" or in any Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry.

The Senate has voted an investigation but if the executive decides it would "breach the confidence of other friendly governments" to give out such information, it would be withheld and there is no way to compel its submission.

To reveal officially and with documents all that did happen could mean the toppling of the Conservative government in London. It could also bring such bitterness between the two countries as would delight the Kremlin.

SOME OF THE MAIN facts can be gathered by reporters from a variety of news sources here and abroad.

This correspondent presents today an authoritative view of what went on between England and the United States before the military intervention of the British and the French and gives some of the impressions formed here in official quarters prior to and since the action taken in landing troops in the Suez area.

First of all, the United States in September and October repeatedly told Britain that the Nasser problem could not be handled by military force.

The United States government insisted that the canal dilemma must be a matter of painstaking negotiation, that it was important to retain the friendship of the Arab states and that this would not be the case if military force were used toward any of them, particularly against Egypt.

Accordingly, Mr. Dulles tried various approaches and finally came up with a plan for a Canal Users Association, which was to be the foundation for a future settlement by peaceful means.

This plan was temporarily put aside in October. But the dispatches from London and Paris have erroneously insisted ever since that this was a repudiation by Mr. Dulles of his own scheme.

The truth is just the opposite.

WHEN THE SECRETARY of state learned that the British and French were going to use force anyhow, he felt that he should disassociate the United States immediately from any program which might even remotely be considered in the Arab world to be a connivance with the British and French to secure their objectives by military force. His withdrawal was a protective step.

All during the last three weeks of October 1956, the United States government was reiterating through various channels to the London and Paris governments its view that military force should not be used.

Intelligence reports from abroad told the administration here of the mobilization of ships and equipment for a landing in Suez.

When the President and secretary of state said publicly that the United States had not been "consulted," they were being literal about the fact that the timing of the ultimatum and the nature of the notice given to the world were not known in advance.

The use of force itself, however, had been discussed previously with the American government. Failure to "consult" the United States on the ultimatum was due to the fact that the British and French knew the United States would not give its consent.

INSIDE THE Eisenhower administration among the members of the cabinet there still is puzzlement. It is incomprehensible to

So They Say

The difference between the West and Egypt has not been colonialism. It is the difference between democracies and a dictatorship. The British people... have understood that. — Sir Anthony Eden's parting shot as he left for an extended vacation.

It was a routine mission, but a little longer than usual — Flight Commander Maj. Gen. Archie J. Old Jr., leader of the record-breaking jet bomber flight around the world.

No one who sat in his presence in the final weeks could ever forget. It was a unique display of sheer animal courage... One (felt) proud to be there, proud to be his friend, the friend of such a brave man. — Film director John Huston, on the last days of Humphrey Bogart.

them that the British should have embarked on such an adventure at all.

As one of them put it, no general starts a military movement without making sure his supply line is secure. Didn't the British realize that, once they used military force, the pipelines in the Middle East would be blown up at once and the canal blocked?

Nobody here on the inside understands why such an expedition was ever authorized by the British cabinet. But when it came, the duty of the United States was to save Britain and France from an economic disaster.

Had America sided with its Western Allies at the time, the last oil pipeline in Syria would have been blown up. Then western Europe would, indeed, have been in a terrible plight.

A whole economy would have collapsed because there was not enough oil immediately available at that time from any other source to keep the economy of western Europe going. Factories, homes and military establishments are all vitally dependent on oil nowadays.

What did America, under the leadership of Mr. Dulles, do? The first and most pressing consideration was to do everything possible to prevent the blowing up of the last big pipeline in the Middle East.

Accordingly, the United States promptly took the position before the United Nations that a cease-fire must be instituted and all troops withdrawn from Egyptian territory.

THIS MOVE caused resentment in Britain and France and led to an expression of the narrow view that the United States was "voting with Soviet Russia." But the move did save western Europe.

It gained time — the most precious factor in diplomacy, especially in a crisis that could easily have led to the intervention of the Soviets and a world war. Fortunately, during his illness, Mr. Dulles had at his side the able under secretary, Herbert Hoover Jr., who is intimately familiar with the Middle East.

The British-French military resources were not big enough to carry through the Suez expedition. As it was, the action even for a few days was so expensive that it nearly destroyed the standing of the British pound in international exchange.

Officials here are asking: How on earth could the British have carried on financially through a prolonged occupation of Suez, with long-drawn-out guerrilla fighting, too?

Maybe they counted on American help, for certainly only with American help could the expedition have been a success.

Why Britain went ahead anyhow after America plainly said it would not be a party to the use of military force to unseat a dictator is still inexplicable here.

WHILE THE OUTCOME has left in its wake some bad feeling in London and Paris, the fact is that the diplomacy of John Foster Dulles saved England and the economy of western Europe.

Instead of there being a "disaster in the Middle East," for which the Democratic partisans here recklessly say America was responsible, it was Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles who saved the world from disaster.

Those American boys who now aren't being drafted would today be in uniform. American business would be on a war basis, and gas rationing would have been imposed here in November but for the forbearance and skill of the secretary of state.

Some day in Britain, when they get all the truth, they will realize that in the last three months of 1956 John Foster Dulles saved them and the free world from an economic disaster of frightful magnitude.

Riding To Police State

By JULIAN HARTT

LOS ANGELES — Police Chief William H. Parker of Los Angeles third largest American city, warned that the appalling national traffic carnage is but one symptom of a spreading social disease which could result in an "oppressive police state," perhaps even destruction of our present form of government.

He said the more than 40,000 persons killed on U.S. highways in 1956—3,804 of them in California, the highest state total—reflect a widespread, growing "disregard for the responsibilities of self-government."

A widely recognized authority in police administration, the 54-year-old Parker said skyrocketing crime rates as well as traffic death totals are traceable to "large segments of the population who refuse to obey the law."

Unless the public can be educated, awakened to the fact that crimes and accidents are not individual "incidents" but evidence of "mass anti-social behavior," Chief Parker said the only way the public can be protected against itself is by adding more and more police.

THE END RESULT of that, according to this South Dakota native who commands a force of 4,400 police officers, "is an oppressive police state which none of us wants, whether we like it or not."

And, citing FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover's contention that "crime and communism" are the true enemies of freedom, Chief Parker added:

"We can lose our present form of government."

From his 30 years in police work, Parker views traffic as a logical striking point to begin turning the tide, "the best example, the greatest mass disregard for law."

So serious is the problem that a House committee, headed by Rep. Kenneth Roberts is trying to prove that automobile accidents are a "disease" and can be checked.

"Too many people," Chief Parker, said "think self-government is just going into a secluded booth and putting an 'X' opposite the name of a man you know nothing about.

"But if society wishes to retain this form of government, the majority must be willing to adhere voluntarily to the rules, which are the laws.

"You and I must voluntarily fall in step and obey the laws, or change the laws we don't like."

IN STRESSING the urgency of finding means of "bringing to the people their problems, in true perspective," so they will thus voluntarily "adhere to the rules," Chief Parker said:

"It isn't a question of whether any people will be killed in traffic in 1957. It's a question of 'how many?' It's a question of degree, whether it will be 40,000 or 42,000."

He noted that in "the old days," when railroads were the chief mass transport means, engineers were carefully selected and trained for years before they ever were given the throttle, "and even then we had them on tracks they didn't even have to steer."

Now, Chief Parker commented, "Everybody's an engineer, with a 4,000-pound vehicle, 22 feet long and six feet wide, to move each one and one-half persons and wide highways to wander over. It's a hell of a problem."

"Actually," Mr. Parker continued, "the transportation system we have adopted is inherently a dangerous system because of the deviation in human behavior while operating a terrible weapon of potential destruction."

Chief Parker, who created the democratic postwar police departments in Munich and Frankfurt as a military government officer, recalled that some 16 years ago in a Northwestern University traffic course, he was told the "Three E's" — enforcement, engineering and education—ultimately would achieve a maximum of traffic safety.

"They told us that enforcement was the principal factor then," he said, "but that engineering and education gradually would become paramount."

AT PRESENT, however, with the blackest traffic records in the nation's history, despite city-lacing freeways such as in Los Angeles, Chief Parker said it is unfortunately a fact that enforcement is still the key factor, with cries raised on all sides for more officers to keep watch on their fellow citizens.

As a sobering example, Chief Parker recalled that his department conducted an experiment in which a large number of traffic violators were given courteous, kindly lectures and turned free, while another large number simply were given tickets.

In each case, officers secretly trailed the offending drivers.

"Those who received tickets," Chief Parker said, "amended their driving habits and obeyed the law. Those we let off, resumed their illegal habits as soon as they thought they were out of sight."

In the face of this public attitude of disregard for the laws they themselves create, Chief Parker sees nothing but larger and larger policing bodies, the ultimate police state, and the possibility of destruction of the government itself.

"I'm the last to want to build a police empire," he concluded, adding ruefully: "I'd be very happy if I could reduce the force—if people would only behave themselves."

Boil One Peck Of Onions

By TRUMAN TWILL

As to the question of what became of the old-fashioned doctor book, it is still on the top shelf, where it was supposed to be out of the reach of childish hands—as if chairs never had been invented.

If the childish hands did not paw through it page by page, with special attention to the colored illustrations of the opposite sex, there was an unprecedented oversight. The hands that put it on the top shelf pawed through it, all right, all right, in their day.

All that most of us know about home remedies came out of old-fashioned doctor books, and the first that many of us knew about the opposite sex came from them, too. It wasn't as lurid as the stuff kids now gaze at in magazines, movies and teevee. But if supplemented by The National Geographic, it provided a fair working knowledge of the anatomical world by the time a viewer was ten and beginning to notice fundamental differences.

But over the long pull, it was not the colored illustrations but the written descriptions of what to do to alleviate misery that mad doctor books valuable. The era of universal telephone service had scarcely begun. Every household was a ship at sea without a physician aboard. A rural household was a ship without a radio.

For the price of a doctor's house call, it was possible to have all the answers in advance, even if some of them furnished nothing more than the advice to harness a horse and drive hell for leather to get the doc.

But most of them were explicit. For cramp you dipped a lump of cube sugar in kerosene and melted it on the tongue. If you wanted a mustard plaster, first you took so much mustard and so on. If childbirth was imminent, you heated water. And so on.

Rhubarb tea was for bellyaches. For upset stomach, cambric tea. For a broken arm, in case no laudanum was handy, try whiskey. Onion poultices were for pneumonia and the wheeze. You peeled and boiled one peck of onions until limp.

Flax seed was for removing foreign bodies in the eye, and to get the slippery little devil into the eye you rolled back the upper lid over a matchstick (see Plate XIV).

Pitch was for drawing out splinters imbedded in the skin. The way you relieved the suffering of a cold was to soak the feet in hot water, then pop into a featherbed that had been preheated with soapstones.

Laundry starch dissolved in warm water relieved itching and reduced hives. Epsom salts should be tried if all else failed, and a little sulphur burned in a shallow dish would kill all germs within coughing distance.

At a time when salt, soda, mustard, sugar, onions, raw beefsteak, sassafras bark, lard, sulphur, molasses and the hair of the dog that bit you were standard remedies, and the doctors, themselves, could add little but calomel, laudanum, supplemental castor oil and advice, those old-fashioned doctor books were indispensable.

Were? Still are.

The Yacht And The Loan

"Are you thinking of buying a boat? Come in and let us help you finance it."—From a bank ad.)

"Well, what's on your mind?" the bank official asked. We told him whitecaps, tropical isles, quiet bays, bellbuys, etc. "Oh you came in by ferryboat?" he said. We told him that we had come in as usual, by bus, and proposed that we do a sea chantey, by way of establishing the mood. "I don't know any sea chantey," he said. (It made us wonder what banks were coming to these days.)

THE MAN SEEMED puzzled. "Try to feel salt spray in your face, hear the gulls mewing on the jetty and sense the lapping of waves around a beacon." We urged. Then demanded, "where's your yatching cap?"

"I have none," he said. "You mean you are the bank official in charge of loans and you have no yatching cap!" we exclaimed.

"Oh, I see. You're in the mood to buy a yacht and have everything but the money," he said suddenly. "How big a boat are you getting?"

"It depends on how big a loan you are giving. I like one with a long sleek waterline and plenty of beam. Has this bank got nautical vision?" we asked.

"In dealing with customers we don't want to over-yacht them," the man said. "On the other hand it is not our desire to send them away under-yachted."

The banker still seemed the cold type, not extra liberal or very salt-water minded so we went into Masefield's lines, "I must go down to the seas again, to the lovely sea and the sky. And all I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by."

IT DIDN'T WORK. The banker looked glum and said, "Even if we could help you acquire a tall ship we couldn't help you with the star to steer her by. This was discussed by the directors at their last meeting but rejected."

The bank official then whipped out a lot of papers and began asking questions about our background, job, family, income, finances, etc.

"You mean I must satisfy the bank that I can afford a yacht before you will advance the money!" we gasped.

"Certainly," he snapped.

"There goes my career at sea," we said. "Oh, think it over and come back some other time. Do you wish my card?" the bank man asked.

"No," we replied. "I can tell your name ain't Joseph Conrad."

AMONG THE ARTICLES found lost at a race track and never called for last season were a pair of crutches. This puzzles everybody. No racing result, even a $4,288 daily double on a single $2 selection could do that much for a man. . . . It is possible some tipster sold him on the idea he had bad feet but that he got "touted off" the crutches.

Other suggestions to clear up the mystery of the abandoned crutches are (1) He carried them to the track and placed them on a chair, assuming this would hold a seat while he made a bet, a perfectly silly idea at any race course; (2) It meant a little less roughage at the mutual windows; (3) A race-goer brought the crutches, after a day of heavy losses, as a way to answer his handicapper's word, "You can't get hurt taking my tips."

SUITS IN THE Andrea Doria-Stockholm sea disaster off Nantucket last year are being settled out of court, it having been made pretty evident that both ships were at fault. . . . But of more interest to the traveling public is this one question: What about the current and future policy of all Atlantic ship lines toward the agreement, long violated by some, that inbound and outbound liners stick to courses far apart? . . .

"Track Charley," a southern course for out-bound ships as called for by an international rule and by safety bodies many years ago, has been ignored by several steamship lines, it developed through the Doria-Stockholm crash. . . . What about the situation TODAY?

'56 Last Quarter Gains Offset Decline For Many U. S. Firms

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The bounce back in profits after the summer slump is giving a healthier glow today to many corporate reports. The first 90 corporations to publish their net incomes after taxes for the fourth quarter of 1956 show a combined gain of 6.5 per cent over the October, November and December period of 1955. Two out of three increased earnings over a year ago. And only three operated at a loss.

For many of the firms the fourth quarter prosperity offset a third quarter decline and allowed them to report a net gain for the entire year.

The percentage of increase over the previous year, however, usually was considerably smaller than 1955's jumped over 1954. And the average 1956 fourth quarter spread over the similar 1955 period was noticeably smaller than the percentage of increase chalked up in the first three months of last year.

The summer slump in profits mostly hit firms affected directly or indirectly by the steel strike and the production cuts in the auto and farm machinery industries.

The bounce back in the final three months of the year was most apparent in these same categories.

For business as a whole there is still evident the squeeze on profits traced to rising costs of labor and materials, and to little if any gain in productivity — the amount of goods produced per man hour of labor.

Some companies with rising sales volume and higher prices for their own products have been able to offset the increased costs and keep their profit charts still pointed toward the ceiling. But many others have seen the curve level off if not drop toward the floor.

The first 90 corporations to report had combined net incomes of $510,490,432, which was 6.5 per cent higher than the $478,921,804 the same 90 reported for the final months of 1955.

Utilities, as a class, showed better gains than the average. Best gains among the industrials are reported by the booming steel

Would Permit Village Council To Set Salaries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal giving village councilmen complete power to decide salaries for all officials in their communities got its first hearing in the state Legislature Wednesday.

Offered by Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) it would affect every community of fewer than 5,000 persons.

Under existing law, village councilmen are limited in pay to $3-$5 a meeting and may be paid for 24 meetings.

Carney and Sen. Stephan R. Olenick (D-Mahoning) introduced a bill earlier in the session to increase councilmen's salaries to $3-$25 a meeting, depending on the village's annual budget.

But Carney came back Wednesday with an amendment that would remove even the $25 limit and would instead give councilmen complete "home rule" in determining pay for themselves and other officials.

Carney's proposal is backed by the Ohio Municipal League.

SENT TO REFORMATORY

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — John R. Veach, 20, of Uniontown, Pa., pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery and kidnapping in common pleas court Wednesday and was sentenced to an indeterminate period in the Ohio Reformatory.

Officers said Veach also admitted several burglaries in Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., and the theft of a car in Ashland, Ohio.

LIGHTWEIGHT FABRICS FOR DAYTIME.—The beautiful tailored daytime dress takes to lightweight, supple fabrics this spring.

This carries out the increasing trend to lightweight fabrics for spring clothes of every kind: dresses, suits, capes, coats and separates. Our changing climate, our excellent heating in both homes and offices and our own liking for fabrics that contribute warmth without weight account for this change from the heavy fabrics of seasons back. Travel, too, is a factor in the demand for fashions that can survive more than one season's wear in a year and more than one climate in the same space of time.

We show here two spring fashions that both make use of a lightweight orlon-and-wool fabric. In one case, the fabric is imported, the design is from a famed American designer and the dress is elegantly expensive. The other is an American design for petite women and is moderately priced.

Sophisticated shirt dress (left) for petite women is from Andrew Arkin. It has bloused bodice and sleeves in contrast to slim skirt.

Imported fabric is used (right) by Pauline Trigere for daytime dress with double-peplum effect over a very slender skirt.

Cite Church Aid To Hungarians

CROP Operations
Ohio Pastors Praise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Christian churches flew in $673,000 in supplies to Hungarian freedom fighters by volunteer airlines during the first four days of their struggle, an Evangelical and Reformed Church executive said Wednesday night.

Dr. Reginald Helfferich, executive secretary for the Commission on World Service, addressing the 38th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention here, also commended the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) for distributing 200 million pounds of food to needy nations in recent years.

Dr. Helfferich's address followed a talk by Dr. Ross A. Sanderson, associate director of the City Church Department of the National Council of Churches.

Dr. Sanderson called for an urban church department, to work within the Ohio Council of Churches, to see "what cities do to people."

The urban department, he said, would "assess the adequacy with which Ohio Protestantism is keeping pace with urban population growth."

Dr. David H. C. Read, New York City Presbyterian minister, asserted the Protestant church must be held open to everyone. "To the Lord's table we come not as Jew or gentile, black or white, rich or poor, but as human sinners seeking forgiveness, life and unity in Him who died for us all," he said.

Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, comparing God's judgment to that of a father, told the convention: "A father always leaves the door open to a child's return. When we face God's judgment in these terms, we can face the future as a challenge and without fear."

In an earlier address, Dr. Theodore F. Adams, president of the World Baptist Alliance, said that Christianity is challenged and stimulated by today's world.

Today's world, he said, is "a world of fear and hate, a world of discrimination and desperate needs and yet a world of interdependence."

Christians must "do our utmost to win the world to Christ," he said, "the world's only Saviour."

In other activity, first place in the "Prince of Peace" oratory contest went to Byron Predika, 17-year-old senior at McKinley High School, Niles, Ohio. He will receive $200 and a four-year free tuition college scholarship.

Second prize went to Allan South, a 16-year-old junior at Fairmount High School south of Dayton. He won $100 and a two-year scholarship.

Grace Wolfersburger, 17, a senior at Shiloh Local School near Mansfield, Ohio, won the third prize of $75 and a one-year scholarship.

Sharon Schwartz, 17, Marietta High School senior; Roberta Pultz, 16-year-old junior at Clearview High School near Lorain, Ohio, and Mary M. Younkman, 17, a senior at Lafayette High School near Lima, each received $50 consolation prizes.

The four-day conference at Franklin County Veterans Memorial building ends today with action on a number of resolutions.

NEW YORK (AP)—As the janitor in a small but exclusive sorority house, I am continually awed by the ability of young ladies to disagree.

If it were not that it came as a reflex action, one might say that the two young tax exemptions in our place have raised the business of consistent disagreement to a fine art.

Why they differ so frequently is a puzzle. Neither is favored or compared or made to feel competitive by their charming, understanding, intelligent parents. Still,

Average lifetime of a car or truck today in the United States is 13.8 years with a mileage of about 122,000 miles.

it has been going on a long time, even back when Kathy was three and Amy six.

I remember a week day at a deserted stretch of ocean beach. Nothing but clean, white sand in either direction for miles. No people except the four of us. And yet, after a tranquil three minutes, suddenly the piercing cry: "Hey, she's on my sand!"

This dispute over territorial rights and spheres of influence flourished, of course, while they shared a bedroom but continued even when they got separate rooms. It also prevailed on the road, especially after we had been driving for a long time, like 12 minutes.

Suddenly, from the back of the car, came the mortal scream: "She's on my side!" Examination revealed that Kathy's toe was dangling a full quarter-inch over the invisible frontier. Or perhaps Amy was merely breathing over the border. In such tense moments, a hand merely brushing a sister's ankle could be the opening round of all-out war.

Kathy is now 11 and Amy 14, and while the form of their disagreement has changed, the degree hasn't.

It was also inevitable that when Amy found Stevenson banners to hang on her door during the last campaign, Kathy came up with Eisenhower signs on her door. Then came nightly raids across the hall in an attempt to tear down or redecorate the rival banners. When the violence was finally subdued, there followed a long debate through the night and across the darkened hall — a debate distinguished more by its intensity than information.

About the only thing the ladies agree on is that their parents don't understand them. Which, of course, is entirely true.

military might. Still subject to approval by the Senate, the resolution also would empower the President to make greater use of economic aid to develop stability and raise living standards in the region.

Eisenhower presumably made clear in his discussion with Saud that the application of his program depends on the desires of the Arab nations and that the United States, while warning Russia against any military adventure in the area, does not seek to establish a protectorate there.

The major aim of the talks Eisenhower, Dulles and other officials are holding with the King is to convince him of United States friendship and good will toward all the countries in the Middle East.

PRESIDENTIAL PAT — President Eisenhower gives Prince Mashur a comforting pat as the tiny son of King Saud of Saudi Arabia rides on his father's lap as they leave the airport in Washington. The six-year-old prince, a polio victim, will undergo treatments for leg and arm paralysis during Saud's two-week stay in this country.

Middle East Plan Okayed By House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution faces extensive revision and at least another week of hearings.

The House made only minor changes in passing the measure Wednesday by a 355-61 vote.

The resolution would enable Eisenhower to make up to 200 million dollars available for military and economic aid to the Middle East, and give advance approval for use of U.S. troops to halt overt Communist aggression there.

Contrasting House action with that in the Senate, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said in a statement that the House's "overwhelming vote, within little more than three weeks after receiving the President's request, is another proof that the so-called lower body of the Congress acts expeditiously and with statesmanship to meet an urgent situation."

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees have been holding joint hearings off and on for the last three weeks. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the latter group said today the hearings will continue at least until the end of next week and possibly into the week following. The committee then must consider amendments before acting on the resolution itself.

Ike Asks Changes In Immigration Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked changes in the immigration laws so it will be easier to give haven to refugees "who have fled or in the future flee" from Communist tyranny.

In a 2,000-word special message to Congress, the President called also for general revisions of the law to allow about 65,000 more immigrants to come to this country each year. The present annual quota is 154,857 and is based on the 1920 census. Eisenhower asked quotas based on the 1950 population census.

Eisenhower also called for a redistribution of the immigration quota "in proportion to the actual immigration" from 1924 through July 1, 1955.

An effect of this would be to increase the number of Southern Europeans and Mediterranean peoples permitted to emigrate to the United States.

Move Bobs Up To Switch Ohio Legislature To Annual Sessions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A new move to switch the Ohio Legislature to annual sessions has bobbed up.

Two years ago, the Ohio House approved a similar amendment to the state constitution, but it died in the Senate.

The new bid for annual sessions was made in the Senate Wednesday by Sen. J. E. Simpson (R-Hardin). The constitution now provides for sessions of the General Assembly every two years—in the odd-numbered years.

House leaders say they will let the Senate fight the battle of the annual sessions this year. If the Senate should unexpectedly approve the constitutional change, House leaders said, the House probably would follow suit. Final decision would be up to the voters at the polls.

School children probably would form the biggest bloc of opposition to a proposal by Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain), chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

He introduced a bill which requires a school to be open for classes 176 days a year in order to qualify for state subsidies. Present law requires 180 days, but includes a number of holidays in that total.

Mosher's bill would require 176 days of actual instruction.

Mosher is the sponsor also of a bill to give the state Board of Education authority to initiate school district reorganizations, including creation of new districts and transfer of territory from one district to another. The board's actions would be subject to 55 per cent approval of the voters in the affected areas.

The proposal would permit creation of districts which cross county lines.

The backlog of bills in the two houses reached 253 with the introduction of 38 more Wednesday. Another batch probably will be introduced today before the lawmakers end their week's session.

Wednesday's offerings included measures to:

Increase teacher-training scholarships from two to four years with selections based on oral or written examinations.

Permit county commissioners to enter into 20-year contracts or leases for maintenance, operation or use of airports.

Tighten state laws on food and drug labeling in line with the federal act.

Appropriate $640,000 for a fishing and recreation lake extending into Ross, Pickaway and Fayette counties.

Prohibit courts from suspending the first $200 of a fine for illegal retail sale of fireworks.

Permit private insurance companies to write workmen's compensation insurance.

Eliminate a provision in the group life insurance law which prohibits the state and other political subdivision from paying employees' premiums.

Authorize school boards to buy liability insurance against on-the-job acts of teachers and other employees.

Establish a meditation and prayer room in the Capitol building.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Wherever he is I beseech Rudolph Valentino to forgive me this rude piece about a big kind of sheik B u t i t isn't V a l e n t i n o's k i n d o f sheik a n y w a y. T h i s i s a n a s t i g m a t i c Arab — one of the few remaining employed kings — who goes dashing about the sands in an air-conditioned car instead of an airy mount.

I refer to a butchering Bedouin by the name of King Ibn Saud. Lest you think me unkind to this sand-dune dictator, let me hasten to report what I discovered were some of his laws when I was in the Near East not too long ago. I was, of course, especially interested in his labor laws and found that this monarch has some quixotic tastes in the rights of man.

It is illegal to strike in the land of this fellow's desert song. There isn't even a cooling-off period under the hot sun of the land of Arabia. Strike — and, you die. Quick labor cure.

RECENTLY some oil workers struck. Not for more money. They objected to the importation of foreign labor — African Negroes, manacled together in bands of 100 and driven from the African interior in trucks which, Dave Beck might like to know, were handled by survivors of Rommel's Nazi Afrika Corps.

News of the strike brought a sparkle to King Ibn Saud's eyes which matched the jewels in the hilt of the sword he once gave former President Truman as a gift and the glitter of dress at official receptions to him during his current stay.

Some 500 strikers were rounded up in chains. Of these, 80 were brutally picked at random. At the gesture of an emir, a desert prince, the strikers were pushed into nests of scorpions. They were poisoned. They died horribly, etching the sands with marks of their death struggles.

Some were burned or tortured. Others had their nails torn out. The rest were jailed.

THE LAW OF THE LAND of Araby says that any discussion by three workers is a plot to strike and as such, is punishable by jail terms ranging from a week to three years. A long prison term means you don't have to be pushed into a nest of scorpions. They find you.

All this by special decree of our special guest from the land of the romantic deserts.

After having run into some of the emirs who enforce the royal decree, I thought they were just burlesqued sporting bloods who wandered around the gambling casinos of Estoril and Monaco.

They're bloody sports, all right. It is they who have the power back home in King Saud's land to sell strikers into slavery or pocket the money they then throw on the dice and roulette tables.

THESE EMIRS have the power — handed down by the divine hand of Ibn Saud — to force oil companies to fire strikers. The strikers in turn, are then exiled by the emirs into slavery or into nearby lands for as long as the emir decides.

No medieval tale is this, nor the whimsey of a newsmen who loathes slavery whether it is on the cobbled streets of Budapest or the sands of Arabia.

There is a confirming record of all this in the files of the International Labor Organization in Geneva and an inquiry to the world crusading Dave Morse, ILO director, will bring you corroboration. Fact is that on Dec. 10 of this past year, J. H. Oldenbrook, general secretary of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, protested against this brutality to King Ibn Saud, through the International Labor Organization.

THERE WAS no reply. Death and torture still are the penalty in the King's slave state for those who cry for bread or jobs.

American businessmen who have voiced their opinions to some of the King's court have been told to mind their own business.

Thus, leaders of the AFL-CIO across the country and in their high command session in Miami Beach, are understandably angered by the reception to the King of Saudi Arabia — where the U.S. Army cannot station a Jewish lad and where a Catholic chaplain cannot say Mass.

The labor leaders will say this week that they cannot see how clasp the hand of one slave master can help whip the working people of the world into a fight on other slave states.

Hardy dam, on Michigan's Muskegon River, is the largest earth-work dam of its kind in the world. It is 1,000 feet wide, 120 feet high and forms a lake more than 16 miles long.

Soviet Union Expels Two U. S. Diplomats

MOSCOW —The Soviet Union today expelled two U. S. assistant military attaches from Moscow, obviously in retaliation for the expulsion of Russians.

In the past two weeks a Russian assistant military attaché and a clerk at the Russian Embassy in Washington have been ordered home by the United States.

The two Americans ordered expelled were Maj. Hubert E. Tansey of Arlington, Va., and Capt. Charles W. Stockell of Jacksonville, Fla.

A Soviet note handed U. S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen charged the two men had "engaged in activities incompatible with their status as accredited diplomatic officials and that their further stay in the U.S.S.R. was therefore undesirable."

The note gave no details. It set no time limit and the U. S. Embassy spokesman said no date for departure of the two men had been decided upon.

Acts To Tighten Home Mortgage Money

WASHINGTON —The government's home mortgage buying agency today lowered the price it will pay for government-insured home mortgages bearing 4½ per cent interest.

The action was interpreted as a further tightening of available home mortgage money and as putting a damper on expansion of home construction.

Assn. (Fannie May) announced a one-half point drop in the price it will pay for 4½ per cent mortgages insured by either the Federal Housing Administration or the Veterans Administration.

Purchase prices, effective at once, will range from 95½ to 98 ½ points—that is $95.50 to $98.50 for each $100 of the mortgage. The range has been 96 to 94.

There is no change in Fannie May's purchase range for insured mortgages at the 5 per cent rate recently put into effect by FHA.

The Virgin Islands, which were ceded by Denmark to the United States in 1916 for 25 million dollars, formerly were known as the Danish West Indies. They consist of 100 islands with a total land area of about 132 square miles.

Quakers Will Seek 11th Win Friday Night At East Liverpool

Foe Holds 8-4 Season Record

Game Will Be 66th Between Schools

By MARK MILLER
Salem's Quakers Friday night will seek victory number 11 when they take on their arch rivals, the East Liverpool Potters on their home floor.
This will mark the 66th time the two schools have met since the initial encounter in 1912. Liverpool has won 41 of the contests, and Salem, 24.
The down river team has a record of eight victories and four losses and is ranked 22nd in the state. The Potters will start 6-foot, 4-inch senior Phil Hayes at center.

BILL ENGLISH, 6-foot, 1-inch senior, and Jack Dopler, 5-foot, 11-inch senior, are the Potters' starting forwards. At the guard posts, Bernie Allen, 6-foot senior, and Bill Smith, 5-foot, 11-inch junior, get the nod.

Hayes has tallied 213 points for a 17.8 game average, and has scored 32 and 31 points, respectively, against Wellsville and New Philadelphia. English has tallied 169 points, giving him a 14 average. Against Mansfield he scored 28 points before fouling out three minutes into the last quarter.
In their 12 contests thus far, the Potters have made 738 points for a 63.1 average per game. In comparison they have allowed their opponents 688 markers for an average of 57.3.

LIVERPOOL'S VICTORY 11 includes Alliance 57-55 in overtime, Warren 72-53, Wellsville 66-65, Midland 77-64, Toronto 67-53, Bellaire 75-65, Mansfield 83-81, and Youngstown East 84-50.

Losses were inflicted by Farrell, Pa., 67-53, Youngstown South 64-53, New Philadelphia 78-61 and Ashland 70-63.

The Quakers will start Bill Pauline at center, Mark Fenton, and Ted Jackson at the forward slots and John Stephenson and Jim Meissner, at the guard positions.
In 12 contests Stephenson has scored 164 markers for a 13.6 average. Fenton has made 153 points for a 12.7 average, and Jackson has 139 tallies for an 11.5 average.

SALE MWILL TAKE a 10 and two record along with its number 16 position in the state rankings against the Potters. The locals have tallied 775 points for a 64.5 game average, and their opponents have made 644 markers for a 53.6 average per.
Game time for the preliminary contest is set for 7 p.m.

Syracuse Nationals Defeat Celtics

By The Associated Press
The National Basketball Assn.'s longest streak of the season, one that the Rochester Royals would as soon forget, is still intact today but another which made the Boston Celtics the scourge of the eastern division is at an end.

The Royals, who could well wind up in Cincinnati, went down to their 11th straight defeat Wednesday night when they lost to the New York Knickerbockers 92-80 in the first game of a doubleheader at Boston. And then the Celtics, who had won eight straight and opened up a big lead in their division, were whipped 119-116 by the fourth place Syracuse Nationals.

Whether the Royals will shift to Cincinnati may be decided at a conference today between general manager Les Harrison and Robert L. Siegel, an attorney seeking an NBA franchise for Cincinnati.

Cincinnati civic leaders have been conducting a campaign to raise $200,000 to underwrite an NBA franchise. Siegel said his group already has raised $125,000. The Royals' last victory was Jan. 8 when they led the western division with a 20-17 record. Today they are last with a 20-22 mark.

Ed Conlin, former Fordham star, paced the Nats to their surprise triumph over the Celtics, who earlier in the season rolled up 10 straight victories. Conlin scored 14 of his 19 points in the final quarter as the Nats came from a 93-87 deficit.

Konnerth's Jewelry was defeated by the Republicans 39-34, and Quaker City Turkey crushed Lisbon 26-16 in Girls League action; and John's Pennzoil smashed Gordon Scott Sports 78-41, and Souder's Engineering beat DeMolay 53-43 in Class B games at the Memorial Building last night.

Bob Feller, Tebbetts To Be Honored

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Feller, one of the all-time pitching greats, and Birdie Tebbetts, a former catcher now a fine manager, will be honored with other baseball notables tonight at the 18th annual Boston Baseball Writers' dinner.

Feller, who hurled three no-hitters and 12 one-hitters for the Cleveland Indians before retiring recently, will receive the Paul Shannon Memorial Bowl awarded annually for outstanding achievement.

Tebbetts, who led the Cincinnati Redlegs into the thick of the National League pennant fight last season, will be honored as "manager of the year."

Several members of the Boston Red Sox will receive awards. Jimmy Piersall will be honored as the club's most valuable player, and Tommy Brewer, a 19-game winner as the team's most valuable pitcher.

The head table guests will include Red Sox Manager Mike Higginson; Milwaukee Braves Vice President John Quinn; Pittsburgh's Dale Long; Clem Labine of the Brooklyn Dodgers; and Jim Hegan, Feller's long-time battery-mate at Cleveland.

300 To Compete In Michigan State Relays

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Nearly 300 individual entries from 19 schools will compete in the 34th annual running of the Michigan State relays Saturday, generally considered the first big indoor meet of the midwestern collegiate season.

Big Ten champion Michigan will be particularly strong in the field events with the entry of shotputter Dave Owen and high jumper Mark Bruce and Brendan O'Reilly.

Competing schools will include Baldwin-Wallace, Bowling Green of Ohio, Central Michigan, Drake, Eastern Michigan, Iowa, Kansas State, Loyola, Miami of Ohio, Michigan State, Michigan, Missouri, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Purdue, Toronto, Wayne State, Western Michigan and Wisconsin.

John Powers, who has had trials with the Pittsburgh Pirates, paced the Southern Assn. in home runs in 1956. He hit 39 for New Orleans.

Maglie Raps Statements By Robinson

CHICAGO (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe and Don Larsen were subjects of a dissertation by Sal Maglie, the Brooklyn Dodger's 39-year-old pitcher whose 13-5 record gave him the National League's comeback honors last year.

"I don't believe Robinson could get a job as a manager," said Maglie Wednesday when unveiled at a news conference as a member of the advisory committee of a sporting goods manufacturing company.

"After the way he has popped off recently no ball club would take a chance on him. Nobody would hire him mainly because you couldn't get anybody to play for him after the way he's been rapping other players."

"It's a shame that such a good ball player should sign off that way. I think he could play another year or two of big league ball if he got in shape. He's been weighing around 220 or more pounds. He ought to be down to 200. I'm two years older than Jackie and I think I'm still good for three more years."

Maglie advised young pitchers not to use the no-windup style of Larsen, the New York Yankees world series perfect game hero.

"A kid could hurt his arm trying it, harm his balance, delivery and aim," he said. "It's all right for fellows like Larsen and Bob Turley. After all, they couldn't get the ball across so they were willing to try anything."

Maglie said that the trouble with his teammate, Newcombe, in the world series was being "over-pitched."

"He was just rearing back and throwing," said Maglie.

Geneva Scores Win Over Mount Union

ALLIANCE Mount Union's Purple Raiders were defeated by a classy quintet from Geneva, Pa., Wednesday night 61-57 in a game played on the Mount Union court.

Geneva had to come from behind to win the contest in the second half. Mount, playing one of their best games of the season, led at the intermission 30-28.

Title Fight Sought By Lane

Scores Technical Knockout Over Ryff

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A co-manager of Kenny Lane said today the Muskegon, Mich., fighter is "ready for a title bout" and he's "prepared to post $75,000" for a shot at the lightweight championship.

Jack (Doc) Kearns, whose boy scored a sixth round technical knockout victory Wednesday night over Frankie Ryff of New York City in a nationally televised (ABC) bout, said "we'll win the lightweight title, then go on against the welterweights."

Lane, ranked the No. 2 contender for the lightweight crown held by Joe Brown, had rated this rematch with Ryff — Lane won a unanimous decision in November in Miami, Fla. — the key fight in his bid to take on the winner of the Brown-Bud Smith title fight Feb. 13 in Miami.

Lane, who's now won 11 fights in a row and 46 of 51, opened a cut over Ryff's eye early in the second round. After it was reopened in the fifth and sixth rounds Referee Paddy Mills stopped the bout.

Lane, who weighed 139½ pounds, was in command all the way, although Ryff managed to keep the Michigan southpaw busy until the second round cut. Thereafter, Ryff — who weighed 139 — had to stay at long range to protect the cut eye.

Ryff, who has lost three of his last four fights and has a 22-4 record, didn't fight as well "as I thought I would." He said he tried to get Lane excited so he'd miss some of his right hand punches in the last two rounds, but the strategy failed.

A crowd of 3,610 paid a gross of $8,320 to see the bout.

Kentucky Beats Georgia; Dayton, Duquesne Victors

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

Why, by gosh, it's just like old times in college basketball.

Kentucky's marching through Georgia to Baron Adolph Rupp's watchful cadence. Dayton's winning and so is Duquesne. Must be tournament time's drawing near.

Any season without Kentucky heading for the NCAA tournament and Dayton and Duquesne pointing for that big one or the NIT is an unusual one indeed. Wednesday night, all three acted as if the first half of this season was a mistake and it was time to get back to normal.

Kentucky whipped Georgia 84-53 to take over the top rung in the Southeastern Conference. Dayton, now 10 and 7, continued a promising comeback to spill DePaul, 75-58 — a team it lost to by eight points six weeks ago. Duquesne (10-5) turned back St. Francis of Brooklyn, 71-67.

Each happened to coincide with the reappearance of North Carolina, top-ranked nationally in the Associated Press poll.

No effects from the two week lay-off for exams or a 300-mile bus trip through the mountains to Cullowhee, N.C. were evident as the Tar Heels blasted Western Carolina, 77-59, for their 16th straight.

Kentucky, fourth-ranked nationally but erratic so far, got 22 points from Johnny Cox and 20 from Adrian Smith in moving a half game in front of Auburn in the SEC race. Dave Ricketts, brother of former all-America Dick, set a collegiate record for consecutive free throws in Duquesne's victory over St. Francis.

Dave hit 10 in a row to boost his string to 40.

ENGAGED — Herb Score, Cleveland Indians' youthful pitching ace and Nancy Ann McNamara announced their engagement in Cleveland. Miss McNamara, who is 20 and a senior at St. Mary's College in Notre Dame, Ind., was a high school classmate of the Tribe pitcher. Twenty-three-year-old Score is recognized as one of the outstanding pitchers in baseball. The couple plans to be married in the fall.

CUBS OPERATE AT LOSS

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs operated at a $159,711 loss last year but there are signs of increased interest.

Thirty-five stockholders, the largest number ever to attend a meeting of the club, showed up Wednesday and board president P.

K. Wrigley tell of the loss based on Wrigley Field attendance of 730,118, lowest since 1944.

The stockholders represented 9.599 of the total 10,000 shares in the club. Wrigley, who owns 7,800, was re-elected president and carried the entire slate of officers with him.

Rules Interpretation Brakes Big Ten Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Rules interpretation in the Big Ten is putting a brake on scoring this season, officials indicated today.

With nearly half of the campaign gone, Archie Dees of Indiana continues to lead conference sharpshooters with a 24.2 average, followed by Frank Howard of Ohio

Card Manager Thinks Trades Helped Team

(Another in a series of managerial views on the pennant races, written under the managers' own bylines—St. Louis Cardinals)

By FRED HUTCHINSON

BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—This is the time of the year when every club wins the pennant, or, at worst, finishes in the first division. But it is a fact that we haven't lost a game yet and we're not conceding a thing to anyone.

Our biggest weakness last year was our inability to score runs at the opportune time. We had too many singles hitters. Our base running wasn't anything to rave about, either.

We've made a couple of deals during the winter which can't help but make us stronger. First of all we got Del Ennis from Philadelphia. He is an acknowledged slugger who has averaged more than 100 runs batted in over 11 seasons in the National League. I expect him to go right into the cleanup spot in our lineup.

Then we acquired Sam Jones, Jim Davis, Eddie Miksis and Hobie Landrith from Chicago. Jones was always one of the opposing pitchers that our hitters moaned about. Davis should be a valuable addition to our bullpen. Incidentally, Larry Jackson, a righthander, should help us a lot more this year, now that he has had experience as a relief pitcher.

The Cards' need during the past several seasons was better pitching and I feel we have improved it. We're going to start right off with Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier. I look for Vinegar Bend Mizell and Willard Schmidt to round out our starting staff with Davis on a spot basis. . . and our bonus boy Lindy McDaniel is coming along nicely.

Ken Boyer at third and Don Blasingame at second will have added experience. Stan Musial will start the season at first base, where he belongs, and that will put Wally Moon in the outfield where he belongs. Right now Alvin Dark has the edge at shortstop on the basis of his experience, but don't be surprised if either of the two youngsters, Dick Schofield or Eddie Kasko, give Alvin a tough battle for the job.

Behind the plate, young Hal Smith did a fine job for us last year, his first in the majors, and he should improve in all departments. Landrith gives us a good second catcher.

I'll have to go along with the majority by selecting Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Brooklyn and possibly Pittsburgh as the teams we will have to watch the most. They all have good defense, the first three have power and all Cincinnati lacks is pitching.

Tony Bartirome, who has been up as a first baseman with the Pittsburgh Pirates, batted .305 for Williamsport in the Eastern League last season. He beat out Dick Sanders of Binghamton by a fraction of a point for the hitting title.

NFL Starts Player Draft

Annual Three Day Meeting Opens Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League opened its three day annual meeting today with the college player draft.

Commissioner Bert Bell immediately faced the business of completing the 30 round player draft.

The 12 teams drafted according to their final position in the 1956 NFL race with the last place Philadelphia Eagles selecting first and the world champion New York Giants last.

Expected to highlight the owners meeting to follow the draft is the list of demands by the newly formed NFL Players Assn.

Actually, only 26 rounds of the draft were to be held today. The first four rounds were held at a special session in November in order to give NFL teams an even start with Canadian league clubs in bidding for the cream of last year's American college football player crop.

Forty-eight players were taken in the November draft, including eight of the 1956 college All-America team. Of the remaining three, one, John Majors, Tennessee back, has signed with a Canadian team; Alex Karras, Iowa tackle is only a junior, and John Witte, Oregon State tackle, was taken in 1955 when his original class graduated. There are, however, a host of brilliant college performers up for grabs.

Bell made it plain that only college seniors, or players whose original class had graduated were eligible for the pro draft. Players in the Pacific Coast Conference ruled ineligible by the conference for further competition, but whose class was not graduated are not eligible. C. R. Roberts, 206-pound star fullback of Southern California is a junior who loses a year of eligibility under a PCC ruling. He is not, however, available in this draft.

The draft was expected to take up the entire first day of the annual meeting, lasting well into tonight.

Commissioner Bert Bell is expected to report on a very favorable league set a new attendance record, found peace with Canada over player raids, and partook of record television and radio receipts. Reportedly, every team in the league, including the last place Eagles, were in the black financially last year.

Bell said after Wednesday's association - league meeting that he would present the player demands to the owners at the sessions starting today. If no action is taken by the owners, Bell said he would arrange another meeting between the owners and the player spokesmen.

Seek Funds To Aid Injured Gridder

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baldwin-Wallace lettermen's club will help raise funds for Richard Kadis, injured in a football game Sept. 29.

The club said the campaign will get under way at the Yellow Jackets basketball game with Central State in Berea Saturday.

Kadis, 21, a student at Geneva (Pa.) College, collapsed on a bus returning the football squad to Beaver Falls, Pa., after a game with Wayneburg College. He suffered a brain injury in the game and still is in a semi-conscious condition at Cleveland Clinic Hospital.

Parents of the former Youngstown High School football star, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kadis, said his hospital and medical bills total almost $10,000.

Geneva College also announced a drive for funds to help Kadis.

Lauds Swimmer Who Died After Car Crash

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said today famed swimmer John Marshall—who died early today—had been a great ambassador for Australia both in his conspicuous performances in the Olympic Games and during the time he had studied in the United States at Yale.

Menzies, offering sympathy to his widow and family, said Marshall had been a wonderful athlete. The prime minister was one of many messages of sympathy received following Marshall's death from injuries received in an automobile accident near Ballarat five days ago.

Rosen Stands Firm On Quitting Baseball

CLEVELAND (AP)—Al Rosen says "nothing in the world" can make him change his mind about retiring from baseball.

The 33-year-old Cleveland third baseman said last fall that he would not be back this season, but that the formal announcement would have to come from the Indians.

He sent a note to friends and customers Wednesday announcing that he would remain at his job as a stockbroker.

Asked about the note Wednesday night, Rosen said he made up his mind last October and that "nothing in the world" could make him change it.

He said he was asked last fall to delay a public announcement on his retirement plans, but that he couldn't wait any longer.

General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland club has been noncommittal about Rosen's determination to retire, saying only that the third baseman was sent a contract along with other players on the roster.

Strahms Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Strahm of New Garden were honored Sunday on the event of their 45th wedding anniversary when 175 friends and relatives gathered at their home.

Guests came from Salem, Lisbon, Canton, Minerva, Youngstown, East Palestine, Winona, Hanover, New Alexander, North Georgetown, Kensington and Mogadore.

A white linen cloth designed with rosebuds graced the refreshment table. The cloth was given to the couple 45 years ago by Mrs. Jennie Conser of New Garden. Mrs. Alma Wilson of Hanover and Mrs. Lillie Todd of Canton.

A three-tier wedding cake with a miniature bride couple provided the table centerpiece. The cake was prepared by Mrs. Bernice Stoudt and the Strahms' three grandchildren, Karleen, Richard, and Ronald Stoudt.

Presiding at the tea and coffee service were Mrs. Karl Stoudt and Miss Carol Locke. Serving were Mrs. Chester Conser and Mrs. Andrew Gottschling. Miss Sondra Houze registered the guests.

A pink corsage was presented to Mrs. Strahm by her four grandchildren, Karl Stoudt, Larry, Sondra and John Houze.

Mr. Strahm and Mrs. Strahm, the former Nellie Loudon, were married Jan. 25, 1912, by Rev. A. Ricketts of Lisbon.

Both are members of the Hanover Presbyterian Church and Butler Grange. Mr. Strahm is a member of the Sandy Valley Lodge of Hanover and the Hanover Township Ruritan Club. Mrs. Strahm is a member of Pleasant Valley Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

The couple have three daughters, Mrs. Bernice Stoudt of New Garden, Mrs. Maxine Houze of Minerva and Thelma Strahm at home, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Strahm received a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Loudon who are spending the winter in Miami, Fla.

FBI Probes Loss Of Physicist's Briefcase

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI and police today investigated the disappearance of a brief case owned by a physicist and which he said contained government secrets.

Fletcher C. Paddison of Bethesda, Md. told police the brief case vanished Wednesday while he was making a telephone call from an Illinois Central Railroad station.

Paddison told police he was en route from Washington, D.C., to the Bendix Corp. guided missile plant in South Bend, Ind. Police said he referred to the contents of the missing case as "dynomite," but they said he did not elaborate.

Try New Waldorf Salad

Waldorf salad featuring apples, celery and mayonnaise served on lettuce has been a favorite ever since it was introduced into the American cuisine dozens of years ago. But nowadays, the salad has taken on new ways. In the following recipe, for instance, a dressing of oil, vinegar and spices is substituted for the mayonnaise because crisp rich bacon is included in the main ingredients.

New Waldorf Salad

Ingredients: 1 envelope old-fashioned garlic salad or French dressing mix, cider vinegar, water, salad oil, ¼ pound bacon, ½ of a medium-sized head lettuce, 1 cup diced unpeeled red apple, ½ cup diced celery, salt.

Method: Combine the salad dressing mix, cider vinegar, water and salad oil as directed on envelope. Cook bacon until crisp, drain and crumble. Shred lettuce into a bowl, or tear into bite-size pieces. Add apple, celery, crumbled cooked bacon and enough of the salad dressing to moisten; toss, adding salt to taste. Serve at once. Makes 4 small servings. Store remaining salad dressing in refrigerator.

Other Liberties

1. Adding walnuts to the basic Waldorf Salad mixture — apples, celery and mayonnaise — has been going on for so many years that it has ceased to be a liberty!

2. Adding diced cooked ham or smoked tongue is a way of making basic Waldorf Salad hearty for a lunch or Sunday night supper main course. Nice menu when preceded by split pea soup and croutons.

3. Pitted fresh dates, cut into slivers with the kitchen scissors, are sometimes added to basic Waldorf Salad. This is good served as a dessert salad.

4. Waldorf Salad may be made in molded form. Lemon flavored gelatin is spiked with a little vinegar and the apple and celery are folded in when the gelatin mixture has been chilled and is slightly thickened. When the salad is unmolded it should be served on greens with mayonnaise. Salted nuts are a pleasant accompaniment.

5. Swiss or mild cheddar cheese may be finely diced and added to the basic mixture.

6. Fresh pear is sometimes peeled and diced and used to supplement the apple. Or tidbits of canned pineapple may be used instead of the pear.

7. Even diced cooked potatoes have been added to the basic mixture for Waldorf Salad. For this combination sour cream, if available, may be mixed with the mayonnaise for the salad. For extra seasoning in this combination, dill is a good choice.

8. Shredded green cabbage may be added to the basic Waldorf Salad mixture.

9. Raisins have been known to be added to this salad. If this is your pleasure, wash the raisins in very hot water and drain well before using whole or chopped.

10. Leftover turkey or chicken white meat may be cut into thin strips and added to the basic Waldorf Salad mixture.

Corn, Macaroni, And Cheese Are Blended

Cream style corn and macaroni and cheese blend together to make an elegant casserole to feature either as the main course or as an accompaniment for roast beef or steak.

Combination of the two in one baked casserole eliminates the individual casseroles and presents a flavor-packed dish.

To prepare the creamed corn and macaroni dish use 1 lb. macaroni, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup butter, or margarine, 2½ cups milk, ½ lb. sharp cheese, 1 can or jar (4 oz.) pimientos, 1 can (16 to 17 oz.) cream style corn.

Cook macaroni until tender, following package directions; drain and rinse. Blend flour and seasonings into melted butter. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Add grated cheese, diced pimientos, corn and macaroni; mix well. Empty into baking dish and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour. Yields eight servings.

Rotary Broiling Well Liked

Women like rotary broiling. Modern small electric rotisseries that broil meat and poultry as these foods revolve on a spit have come to have a really welcome place in many kitchens.

These appliances have several advantages. They do a beautiful job of cooking meat and poultry so these foods are crisp and brown on the outside, juicy and tender within. They're easy to use and to clean. They're versatile—they can do lots more beside spit cooking. And they're portable; you can use them in any room and you can easily switch their positions in a small kitchen.

The following directions may be of help when you rotary-broil a roast of beef. Although this recipe calls for garlic you may, of course, omit that seasoning if you like. When one of our sisters spit-cooks a four-pound beef roast she uses a mixture of 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 1 teaspoon paprika and 1 teaspoon garlic salt for rubbing on the surface of the meat before it goes round-and-round.

Use a rolled beef roast about 4 inches in diameter and weighing from 3 to 5 pounds. Remove roast from refrigerator 1 to 2 hours before cooking. Rub meat with cut clove of garlic, salt, pepper and flour. Rub skewer spit with cut garlic. Slip one clamp onto skewer, then put roast on spit, so that the meat will be centered when the spit is placed in the electric rotisserie. Put second clamp onto spit; tighten thumb screws. Pre-heat broiler 5 minutes with temperature set at medium. Pour ½ cup water into drip tray and place in bottom of broiler. Place spit with roast on it in rotisserie. Turn heat to high. Turn on motor and close spatter shield. Roast until meat is cooked to desired doneness, allowing about 1 hour for the rare-meat stage. The 4-inch diameter of the rolled roast, rather than the number of pounds it weighs, determines the cooking time.

Golden Fish Broil

Ingredients: 1 pound fish fillets, juice of ½ lemon, 1-3 cup of fine dry bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup (½ pound) butter or margarine.

Method: Sprinkle fish fillets with lemon juice. Coat with mixture of bread crumbs, paprika, salt and pepper. Cut butter into thin pats and arrange on fish fillets. Pre-heat broiler and broiler tray of electric rotisserie five minutes. Grease hot tray. Place fish fillets, skin side down on hot greased broiler tray of rotisserie. Place on top shelf (first shelf below heat). Close spatter shield. Broil five to seven minutes or until fish is golden and flakes easily when tested with a fork. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Salmon Newburg Casserole Is Palatable Dish

Cleverly designed encasings can give glamor as well as added taste appeal to delectable dishes.

This salmon newburg spectacle can be served in individual casseroles, if desired, or from a main buffet casserole.

To prepare the pastry, use 2 1/4 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup shortening, 6 tablespoons water.

In a mixing bowl combine flour and salt. With a pastry blender, or two knives, cut in shortening until mixture looks like coarse corn meal. Sprinkle water over mixture, one tablespoon at a time, and mix lightly with a fork until all flour is moistened. With the hands gather dough into a ball and divide in half.

On a lightly floured board roll half the pastry into a large circle 1/2 inch thick and about 12 inches in diameter. Fit it into an 8 or 9-inch cake pan 1 1/2 inches deep or a deep pie plate and trim edge, leaving 1/2 inch overhanging. Turn overhanging pastry inward and pinch it all around between thumb and forefinger, pressing it firmly against rim of cake pan. Prick pastry with tines of a fork.

Roll out remaining pastry for casserole cover 1/2 inch thick and cut a circle 1 inch larger in diameter than the pan. Place the circle flat on a baking sheet, turn edge under 1/2 inch and flute. Run a pastry wheel around the top 1/2 inch from fluted edge.

With a pastry wheel cut 6 petals from remaining pastry and arrange them on the pastry circle radiating from the center. Place a small ball of pastry in center. Stick the cut-outs in place with water. Prick circle with fork tines and bake lined cake pan and circle at 325 degrees F. for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

For individual casseroles, use recipe for pastry making 4 small casseroles.

Roll out pastry and cut 8 6-inch circles. Line 4 small tart pans (3 3/4 inches in diameter) with half the circles, turn edge of pastry inward 1/4 inch and press against rim of pan with tines of a fork.

Prick with a fork and place on a baking sheet. Place remaining 4 circles on baking sheet, turn edges under 1/2 inch and flute. Run a pastry wheel around the top 3/4 inch from fluted edge and prick with fork. Decorate with pastry cut-outs and bake as above.

For the salmon newburg, use 3 cups canned or cooked salmon, 1 cup chopped mushrooms, fresh or canned, 5 tablespoons shortening, 2 1/2 tablespoons flour, 2 1/2 cups milk, 3 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Drain and flake the salmon. Fry mushrooms in 3 tablespoons hot shortening for about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Melt remaining shortening in heavy saucepan and stir in flour. Stir in milk and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add egg yolks beaten with a little of the hot sauce. Blend in Worcestershire sauce, salt, lemon juice salmon and mushrooms and cook over low heat, stirring, for 2 minutes. Fill pastry casseroles. If desired, garnish with hard-cooked eggs. Makes 6 servings.

Meat Bill High? How to Cut It

If you want to cut the meat bill, wield your imagination and learn how good inexpensive meats can taste when combined with vegetables. Here are a few suggestions for dishes which you'll enjoy — dishes which will be kind to your budget.

Planked Burger Dinner
Season ground beef with black pepper, onion, thyme, chopped celery and parsley. Shape into nice, round cakes.

Brush with melted butter and broil about 5 minutes. Place neatly on a plank and dress with a border of fluffy mashed potatoes.

Place under broiler until potatoes have browned. Place mounds of cooked peas and carrots and grilled tomatoes around burgers.

Ground Beef, Potato Casserole
Arrange alternate layers of grated sweet potatoes and seasoned ground beef in a casserole. Pour meat stock over layers. Cover and bake.

Sweet-and-Sour Beef Cubes
Brown beef cubes in oil and cook until almost tender in a sweet-sour sauce seasoned with mustard and ginger. Add wedges of green pepper and turnip; continue cooking until meat is tender. Serve over hot, fluffy rice.

Lamb Shanks
Brown lamb shanks in skillet.

Boil cranberries in water until the skins pop. Add cinnamon and cloves. Place lamb shanks in a casserole and pour spiced cranberry mixture over them. Cover and bake.

Make a sauce with pan drippings to serve with the lamb shanks.

Spicy Veal Loaf
Mix together ground veal, chopped salt pork, eggs, milk, bread crumbs, seasonings, mustard and marjoram. Bake in loaf form.

Serve this tasty dish with tomato to gravy, seasoned with thyme and marjoram.

Cream butter or margarine with grated lemon rind and use when broiling chicken or fish.

If you want to make rich and nourishing drinks for the youngsters or adults, use chocolate milk as a base. It usually has a higher fat content than plain chocolate drinks.

For parties or after-school get-togethers, try these glamorized wholesome drinks.

Chocolate Milk-Coconut Float

Three cups chocolate milk, 1 pint French vanilla ice cream, ¼ cup grated fresh coconut, toasted; 2-3 cup coconut milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup heavy cream, whipped.

Freeze 2 cups chocolate milk until mushy. Soften ice cream. Reserve 2 tablespoons coconut; fold remaining coconut into ice cream and freeze.

Combine coconut milk, vanilla and frozen chocolate milk. Fill the glasses 2-3 full with frozen chocolate milk mixture. Add scoop of coconut ice cream. Fill glasses with remaining chocolate milk. Top with whipped cream and remaining toasted coconut. (Beverage may be served in coconut shells, if desired).

Coffee-Cream Chocolate Milk

One-half cup sugar, ½ cup water, ¼ cup ground coffee, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, 1 quart chocolate milk.

Combine sugar, water and coffee. Heat to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cook 5 minutes over low heat.

Strain and cool. Combine ice cream and coffee syrup, using electric mixer or rotary beater.

Beat until foamy. Add chocolate milk and mix well.

Petite Pizzas Easily Made

This American version of little pizzas is just what to serve for after-skating parties. Hearty, portion-size pizzas made with chopped chicken and mushrooms, the filling can be made ahead of time.

At the last moment, pile the filling high on English muffin halves, top with sliced American cheese and pop into the oven for 10 minutes. Simple as that — and wonderful to eat.

Chicken Mushroom Pizzas

Six English muffins, 2 cups diced, cooked chicken; 3-ounce can drained; 1-3 cup chili sauce, 6 slices American cheese.

Split muffins, place on greased baking sheet and toast lightly. Combine chicken and mushrooms with chili sauce.

Spread mixture on muffins. Cut cheese in quarters and overlap two pieces on each muffin. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Makes 12 individual pizzas.

Here's another quick party item — pickle rabbit. This dish will make a hit with any hungry crowd of guests.

Party Pickle Rabbit

One tablespoon butter or margarine, 1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese (about 1-3 pound), ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, dash cayenne, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, well beaten, ½ cup chopped, sweet, mixed pickles; sliced turkey, 6 slices buttered toast, 6 slices crisp-cooked bacon.

Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler. Add cheese and cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until melted. Add mustard, cayenne and milk.

Cook, stirring occasionally, until ingredients are blended. Gradually add egg, stirring constantly.

Cook until thickened and smooth, stirring occasionally. Fold in pickles. Arrange turkey on toast in shallow baking dish. Top with a cheese sauce.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat 3 to 5 minutes, or until cheese sauce is lightly browned. Garnish with bacon.

St. Valentine's Day Table

Use lace paper mats, heart-shaped and in royal colors of Cupid, to decorate your Valentine party buffet table. Supply yourself with corrugated paper, pink crepe paper and several heart-shaped lace paper mats in both red and white. Then follow these instructions:

1. Cut a circle of corrugated paper large enough to cover table. For a large table, cut in two semi-circles for ease in handling and fasten the two halves together with cellophane tape. The use of corrugated paper is encouraged because it is inexpensive, easy to cut and thumb tacks can be pressed into it very easily.

2. Cover top of table with double layer of pink crepe paper, or pink "construction" paper, sold at art supplies stores. Fasten under edge of paper top. Cut a strip of matching crepe paper, wide enough to reach floor, and double the width of the table.

3. Hold the length of crepe paper in one hand and fasten to edge of table top with thumb tacks, keeping fullness even as skirt is tucked around the full width of table.

4. Fold lace paper doilies in half, fasten to table with streamers and bows of bright red ribbon.

5. Circle the top of the table with alternating Valentine red and snowy white heart-shaped lace paper mats.

For your Valentine buffet supper here is a pale green recipe to harmonize with the dominant red, pink and white table decorations.

Lima Beans with Sour Cream and Chive Dressing
Two 10-ounce packages frozen lima beans, 1/2 cup sour cream, 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon of ground white pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped fresh chives.

Cook lima beans according to directions on package. Drain, if necessary. Add remaining ingredients. Toss lightly. Serve at once.

Molasses Pudding
Good During Winter

Cold winter winds blowing outside call for warm hearty dishes at mealtime.

Molasses raisin pudding with a coconut decor and served warm will assure you a happy ending to such cold-weather meals.

To prepare the pudding, use 3 cups milk, 1-3 cup molasses, 1 cup seedless raisins, 3 tablespoons uncooked cream of rice cereal, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon mace, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1 egg, beaten, 1 1/2 cups tender-thin flaked coconut.

Combine milk, molasses, and raisins in saucepan. Heat until milk begins to steam. Then sprinkle in cream of rice cereal, salt, mace and ginger. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Pour a little of the cereal mixture over beaten egg, stirring constantly.

Then combine with remaining cereal mixture in saucepan. Cook and stir 1 minute longer. Stir in coconut. Remove from heat. Serve pudding warm or cool, with light cream. If desired, garnish with additional coconut. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Egg Supplies to Be Greater This Year

Egg supplies will be about 4 per cent greater this year than last. They top the list of abundant foods for February, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. They will be of excellent quality, too, because of the large proportion of young hens in the flocks.

Here is the complete national list of plentiful foods for February: Eggs, beef, broilers, fryers, milk, dairy products, ocean perch fillets, haddock fillets, potatoes, rice, canned sweet corn, dried prunes and canned purple plums.

The following is a fine egg dish from Julie Benell's book of favorite recipes. We rate it as one of the outstanding cookbooks of last year.

Scalloped Eggs

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced thick; 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, soda crackers, 1/4 teaspoon paprika.

Make a white sauce with 2 tablespoons of the butter or margarine, flour and milk. Add eggs, salt, pepper and monosodium glutamate. Crush enough soda crackers to make 4 cups. Mix with paprika and other 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine.

Arrange in layers in a greased casserole, alternating sauce, then crumbs, and repeat. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Guarding Your Health

Respiratory illnesses

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

In a study of illness in a group of Cleveland families it was found that about two-thirds of all illnesses were of a respiratory nature (the breathing apparatus) and that about 95 per cent of these are of unknown cause. About 40 per cent of all illnesses could be classified as common colds.

The confusion in the field of illnesses of the respiratory tract is apparent by the large number of names used: Common cold, nasopharyngitis, laryngitis, common respiratory disease, grippé, catarrh fever, febrile catarrh, acute respiratory disease, tracheitis, bronchitis and primary atypical pneumonia.

Bearing on this subject is a report in one of the medical journals on a study of four kinds of acute respiratory infections: Acute respiratory disease, nonbacterial pharyngitis, primary atypical pneumonia and the common cold. Evidence accumulated in recent years suggests that these are separate illnesses, probably caused by viruses, but that each type may be caused by more than one kind of virus.

With regard to acute respiratory disease, it was pointed out that a grippé-like illness resembling influenza, but not caused by influenza viruses, has long been known to occur in military recruits and other population groups. The outstanding feature is its grippé-like nature and its epidemic occurrence in winter months among military recruits but not among seasoned men.

Among hospitalized patients the infection is acute in onset, characterized by fever and symptoms such as chilliness, loss of appetite, irritated throat, hoarseness and cough. The cause has not definitely been identified, but the disease can be transmitted by appropriate methods and is believed to differ from both the common cold and primary atypical pneumonia.

Nonbacterial pharyngitis is a disease which is both mild and short-lasting and characterized by symptoms of sore throat, hoarseness and cough, with nasal symptoms less conspicuous. This disorder was perhaps first recognized in children, particularly in the summer-time. Here too, there are reasons for believing that this is a separate respiratory infection differing from the others under review.

Space forbids discussion of primary atypical pneumonia at this time.

With regard to the common cold, progress in study has been discouragingly slow. Part of this is the result of the lack of a suitable susceptible laboratory animal and part of the difficulty of recognizing the common cold and distinguishing it from similar illnesses because there is as yet no laboratory method of confirming the diagnosis.

INSULT TO INJURY — Chica, Louie Looser's chihuahua, looks as though his owner's cat has ruffled his fine Mexican dignity. On Jan. 21 the dog fell from a chair and broke a leg in Louisville, Ky. Later in the week, with his leg in a cast and minding his own business, friend cat crowded him out of another chair and broke his other front leg. Such-a-friend!
